The most scoun irelly elect on from l of recent times has just been ferreded out in the 1.

The legislature of Illinois at its last session of acted a high-license liquor law. It is hateful of course, to the baser sort engaged in the hiptor trade, and every possible effort was made to elect a legislature that would repeal it. In consequence of the strenuous exert one of the hope nen in this behalf the republicans (ailed to carr) the legislature by the majority they had boped for, though Elaine and Logan won the state by a plurality exceeding 20,000 and by a clear manufacture and Logan was the legislature that So close was the legislature th it could not be told for two weeks or more just how it stood, but finally it was ascertained that the republicans had one major ty in the senate, As a United States senator to succeed Lugan cas involved the estuation now became doubly and it became important in the eyes of the cratic besses to reverse the republican ma cority of one in the senate. To accomplish thes. experts were set at work upon turns of the second precinct of the Lighteenth ward of the city of Chicago In the district which covers that precinct H W. Leman was the republican candid to for the state senate and Randolph Braud was the Democratic candidate. The informal count after the election, gave Laman 42) votes in the precinct and Brand 274, and it was announced that Leman had received 580 major ty tu she entire district make the official count. Then I was proclaimed that an error had been discovered in the returns of the second presenct of the eighteenth ward. and that Brand, instead of being beaten by 3 to majority was elected by a majority of ten. It was found that the figures of the presenct, instead of giving Leman 420 and Brand 224, as aumousced after the informal count, gave Brand 471 and Leman 220. The following table shows what a sharp contrast they present to the votes cast for ally popular man, and his vote in other parts of the district ran far shead of that for most of the But the proof of fraud does not rest on this testimony, important as it is The authorities of the law have made an investigation that ly examined. An order was made that the bal-lot box, tally sheet and return be I rought into court, which was resisted til the alleri sure was offered its custodians of producing it or of going to jall Lxamination of the return showed beyond meeter that the paper had been tampered with Figures had been crase and others written in Even the difference in mk could be detected krasure and substitu Lon for each other of two figures in the return had changed Leman's vote from 420 to 22, and Brand's from 274 to 474 StBl it was claimed that the erasunes were not proofs of fraud, but only showed that an error hal been corrected when the returns were forted up. The next step was to examine the ballo s, and to obtain this Leman demanded a recount.

and withdraw that number of Leman ballows from the box. In doing this it became necessary to exercise care lest the votes cost and country for other candidates should be disarranged, indi-cluss supplied for letection. The first the pitrat. awakened suspicion a opening the box was the order in which the ballots were arranged n ore than two him hell ballors first roached on the string, every no was for Brand. The pecularity of these fallets, and of the engraving at their head next attracted attention. They were a close unitation of the republican hallets, but

It is true that the distinct object which they proposed to them selves was the defeat of the republican parts But it is their right to desire the success and prefer the rule of the lemocratic party. They must be allowed to express their preference, of course. Republicans only need to remember that in future elections they will have the same right to express their views and purposes as to probibition. This is a free country. If the prohibition. This is a new comman, prohibitionists prefer to trust the democratic party as an organization to peak on their cause, who shall question their right? Their judgment may be questioned, but their right is undoubted. THE FUBLIC LINDS

The rapid growth of this country in pop la ten zu I wenth, which Mr Dir ne sail in he letter of accessince is 'n garded by the older unitors of the work is phenomenal, which sharpasses in experience of all other a trobastic fact that the country had such a large extension of fartile land to give to actual settles, or to sell for a manifest price. It has same time to the first part of the first Il is unoccupied hand, "free to the first now er." has betell as a yas safet; valve to the a distant future, the development of social and a distant future, the development of social and industrial croses such as perplex and threaten the stability of governmens in all the ritions of Europe But now these public lands have been so nearly absorbed by settlers, by composations and by speculators as to excite reasonable apprehensions for the future of ou can government. But the political parts above treat their profest, accurate ti al parties have entered their protest against il a further proflugate waste of the public lands by then grant to radrouds and other corporations, and have unite tim the demand that hereafter they should be ' reserved as far as possible f r small holdings by actual settlers?

Secretary Toller devotes considerable space to the consideration of this subject in his innua-report. He embodies with approval the reconmendation of the commissioner of the general land office for the repeal of the pre-emption law. Actual settlers have ample opportunity under the linesstead laws for the legiumate appropriation of pub ic lands, and a doub e sys-"Leonomy of administra accurs tion of land titles by fictitions pre-out tion entries, and the exact one made upon bona file actilers, who are often obliged to buy off inn's render the repent in my pulgon ut, a subhe necessit. In many cases price aption can s have been file I with no intention of per fecting the entries, but for speculation, or as a giver for deninging land of its timber. "In cases of entires actually made it is found that he most valuable typher lands and large gross of agricultural and grizing lands are entere in a whose names or by persons employed for the purpose, and the lands thus pass into speculative haldings, or holdings in large quantities for perproce of which is the same manual process of which is the same manual process of an unnered tands. The government loses the difference in price, while a loss of the general public lies in the increased price of the coal product in consequence of the control of coal helds, which in this way is accurred and held with a comparatively small onling of the result is equally true as to turner the car only the coal product in consequence of the coal held with a comparatively small onling of the result is equally true as to turner the car only the coal product in the coal product in consequence of the coal product in coal pr in other parts of and held with a comparatively small online of capital. The result is equally true as to turn ser isnus. Experience has demonstrated that an efficitive remedy for these cells can only be found in the repeal of the laws under which

The dlegal fencing of the government domain for graving purposes is another device of the land grabbers which has been persisted in in the time more note style in defiance of law and nabil right and of the decisions of the courts. The agents and inspectors of it is land office find that more than 5,100,600 acress have been it egally fenced up At the same time more than Sob fraudital entries of land for pre-emption have been mad, and action has been suspended on 5000 ma e because of suspected fraud. The recent conferences of on the men at Chicago and St. I cans are the result of the planu which his been excited among them in consequence of the recent decision of he United States circuit court at Omin's oriering the removal of fences. In or ler to perpetuate their hold upon these lands, the cattle kings are now endeavoring to lease the grazing halds for the longest period and at the smallest pental on terms which shall not interfere with pre-unin tion. If the pre-er phon laws are not repealed and time is secured by mains of long knows, he lessees will employ unsaudified cowboys to preempt the leased fauds, and thus acquire an absolute and perpetual talls to them. Therefore the repeal of the pre-emption and trinber-culture laws is one of the first essential stops in carrying out the policy of both political parties of holding the public domain secred to actual settlers. There is, says Mr. Teller, "but one remedy, and ha is ind if the repeal of the two no longer necessary to a late to return setter to secure a title to the late of the public domain. Senator Sherman is reported to have expressed the opinion that the minimalions of President Gereland, unless very objects make, will un-doubtedly be confirmed without much difficulty In this opinion Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, a strong partianu, agrees. He says that there is no doubt that the republican set ate will confirm the nominations of President develand, as it it would be quite possible for the democrats to filibaster agnipst executive sess ons, or, if such sessions should be held the comporate could undcubtedly postpone action 1 pm the nomina-tions until Nucch 4, when, under the law, the nominations would fall. The p and would then be raised, doubtless, and maintained by the democra ic administration, that all old officers who be impossible for the republical senators to accomplish their object if they should attempt to reast the president, unless they should be able to keep the granter in continuous session, for the tenure of office act allows the prosident to supersede officers for cause and to at point temporarily to the Trace, requiring lam, however, to present crue-s for the removal as soon as the sheate concerne, when, it the new nominees are not confirme!, the old officials would be restored to their places. It was in the old Ringville school house that the merry company of toys and girls assembled for an evening spelling match. It was dark without, and yet there was no tamp within, but the open door of the square box stoys cant out lurid rays which fell upon one face after another as the ever-resiless, hilliers crowded atout and tossed in their nu, shells, and laughed as they crackled among the glowing embers. But the laughter, merry as isounded, was of a half hearted kind, which sasily showed that little brains were grappling with weighter things.

"I say, what's up now?" said a new-comer "There's something linkwing. I'll bet a perm, you look as wise as a company of owis."

"How do you know, Tim Redway? You never saw an owl. They don't fy in the day-time, and you're afried of the dark. Girls, which one of you'll see this fellow home tonight?" and Dick Decham vaulted on to the nearest deak and betook hunself to chestnuts anew. "I tell you fellows. I'm awall sorry for Pat

"I tell you, fellows, I'm awful sorry for Pat, and no jokin'," put in Burt Alden, whose mind reversed to the topic in Land in spite of sundry interruptions. "Any one of us could better afford to have a broken leg than for him to I don't care, you may call hun Paddy or pauper, but there sun't a butter chap in this crowd than he is."

there sun't a better chap in this crowd than he is."

"That's where you're right, Burt," shouted Ben Martin. "The found out why he didn't go to the stating match last Saturday. He staped at home to take care of the bally so his mother could go to town. It telyou, there ain't a thing that fellow won't give up if he can accommodate somebody by it."

"Hooray! Hear 'em orate! Give 'em the floor Irsland has got some champions now" smeared Casper Cressyall. "Fore I'd rave over the virtues of a dirty hi te paddy whacker! But then everybody to his baste. However, he ain't just such a feller as I want to associate with," and Casper pulled out his gold watch and began to grumble about the master's being late.

Casper was the rich ran's son of the district, but he was what Dick called "left-handed in his disposition". It had come to be a matter of course that he would oppose every project that he did not suggest himself, and in spite of his fine clothes and swargering assumption, the children had learned to mind little about him It was in the passe that followed his sneers the crothes and swaggering assumption, the children had learned to mind little about him it was in the pause that followed his sneers that Fill Wayne spoke ip "Shove up your sleeves, boys. Burt.

"Hush your nonsense, boys! Come on, give me your hands on it." continued Phil as he held out his own toward the crowd collectively.

"I. I." was the answer, and the boys crowded up, stretching out their hands in pledge of good faith, over the hot store, over the low benghes, even over the shoulders of the speaker bindelf.

"Have you got any work for me to-day, Deacon Boberts?" seked Birt, who lifted the gate latch just as the old gen teman was seating himself in the midst of his wolf robes for a drive.

"Work enough," said the deacon, as he luttoned up his fur cellar and surveyed the hoy from head to toot. "There's work enough to be done, but I don't know about your sor of tellows. You want nice, damly little jobs and the most tremendous ps."

"I do want a lot of money, but Fil earn every rent of k;" answered Burt.

"Well, then, if you'll drive my fat cattle to the butcher's this morning and save my hired man's func, I can give you 50 cents."

Bort thanked him and was off to the stables. No time was lost. He got ten cents more for an extra little job at the butcher's caught a ride home, and was ready for more work by noon. To count up the little old jobs that were done by boys that day would umply that Ringville had been much desordered on that particular morning, and had enjoyed a sort of general houseleaning before night. The old mill raceway was cleared of tee, the wrecks of the paylion roof, which blew o'f in the gule, were removed from the common, (runge hall was swept and dusted, private wood pies were worked up, ley crossings were hacked and sprinkled with sand, feeble roofs were cleared of stow, loose blinds were steened apples were sorted, cattle were treated to me extra brushing, and a thousand little things tending toward order and convenience were well and thoroughly done.

tis the fix Nos 7 - | Special to I on don Pall Wall Greete |-- | ast in ht we had a storm here and in its gale roard through the cosolate streets. To day in iron sky seems to enfeld the town, a pecus iran falls coldle, and Jarrow is more dream than any colde, and Jaryse is more drear; than any place that I ever saw. Dreary it is for me though I am warmly wrapped but it must be a thousand times worse for the poor sonly who stand listleady at the corners and gave around hungraly on the unlovely sources and the gray, biting must. The town depends for 1.s existence on Palmer's great ship building yard Tahner's is the centre of life, and there is not a tradesman or work ontaining yard. Trimer's is the centre of life, and there is not a tradesman or work man here whose prosperity of the enormous works established by the courage and enter prise of one mar. In good times, Messrs Palmer employ 12,000 men, and pay £10,000 per week in wages to artisans alone. Last year about 80,000 tons of shapping were attended out, and the vast wage fund employed in gairing that an along result was nourse into the town of Jarrow. At present there are only bout 4000 men employed, and the works are being car tried on at a cead loss for the time being. Mr. theorge Palmer said to me. We are content to lose for awhile. If we close our yard wee shall ruin the town and the trade might never come back, so we go on losing steadily. We have seven ships now on the stock from going to ruin as it would if the machinery were alle. We shall hang on till things look up is attle and we in ready to start to-morn ow with a dozen new vessels if we had the chance. I have seen eyes whose pupils wereinly two mehrs, apart. I have seen thow where the distance between them, was two and three quarter anches. Altering or rebuilding a frame is a very nice and diffict to apending all the parts of an opera glass are operacted, adjusted, the one to be offerfluor two cross bars are not exactly paralle, if one burrel is a shade longer than the other the glass distorts exerciting in he most horrille way. Yes those people whose uses are precisely two and this findles apart, measuring from pupil to pupil get the most sufficiency result from the ordinary opera glass, but slight varieties from the standard are o little account. the ordinary opera glass but slight variations from the standard are o little account. Those people whose eyes are a thirty accorded in inch wider upart than the average would never find it out from the inconvenione in using an opera glass. Cross evid people have to lock through an opera glass with one eye. I sen then the rault is rather fintastic and the prittiest soubrette looks as though she might be transferred to a dimerous many many and the prittiest soubrette looks as though she might be transferred to a dimerous many with alwantage. If opurs the second barrel is entirely superfloors. A well-known dude in own whose strathsmus is pronounced has one barrel of his instruction fitted up with window glass. A take scope is really the thing he should have that is what Ben Butler used to inspect invote in New York city. Near sighted project in the group oper it glass, without he intervention of spectacles. Spectacles occurse put them in the same position as the people whose vis on is normal. If a minimulus his eyes after using an opera glass the probability is that the glass is glabstice. The power of epera glasses is croin two and a half to five times that on the average continued. The property of the same footing with those who are from eight to 16 feet iway. There are saveral sample tests of the power of intervention on the same footing with those who are from eight to 16 feet iway. There are saveral sample tests of the power of intervention on the same footing with those who are from eight to 16 feet iwas. There are set cred simple tests of the power of in operaglass. The mos convenient on a perhapitation of the plass will arough the right barrel of the glass will some left eye. The differenced between the actual distance as measurement by your right recognition and the apparent distance is measured through the glass will represent the difference between the work of the control of the court o of he frame. Here and to glasses at the end of each barrel. One is a convex flort glass, the other a consistency crown glass. The convex glass, the other a consistency growing glass. Introduced the convex glass is the magnifying glass. But objects cen through a simple convex glas is all lurred and the edge take on diacolors of the ranbow. A codeave glass define the lunes and makes everything all or and it there. It will be ready such that it is all import and how these two glasses in ground and fitted to each other. There is annufactories in Paris which turn cut open glasses after the same rapid fishion that factories here turn out shoes clocks and varifies. The glasses may be good, hund it through the are not thoroughly reliable. There are other manufactories which drive themselves entirely to fine work, and it is from the cut is the time that the international continuous continuous continuous continuous continuous and the continuous and continuous are now march, seen leads mountings of the test of the covercentings on the subsort fine the analysis of the case continuous into another as a continuous and the continuo

RENEWER.

The great popular ty of this preparation, after its many jest; of test, should be an issurance, of on to the most skeptical, that it is really reritorlous. Those who have used HALL's HAIP RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new prowth of heir on bald heads—provaded lid hair folicies are not dead, which is seldom the case, restores natural color to gray or finded hair, preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff, privents the shaft fulling off or changing color; leeps it soft, pilant, bustrous, an causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL's! HAIR RYNEWYR produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable longreducits, which in ignoreducing it is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing to alcohol it does not evaporate quickly and day up the natural oil, high the hair larges and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye

) Buckingham's Dye W · ISKERS

Colors them brown or black, as desired, and is the best dye, because it is harmless, produces a permanent natural color, and bring a sing e preparation, is more convenient of a polication than any other.

BILLS ORDERED PAID

The following claims against the cily read and ordered paid

In the paying of bills, the councilmen developed several streaks of their economical ratures Adains took up the bill of Samuel Holden a blacksmith, who charged $2.50 for shoeing a city horse, and moved that it be cut down to $2 claiming that it was too much, and asserting that he never paid not re than $2 for having tus borse shot. Councilman Fliedner coincided with him, but the other members were opposed, the or two thought it was too small a master, and others declared $2.50 was not too much to pay any than for shoeing a horse, so the full amount was ordered paid. The bill of John disbon, for construction of the 6 street sewer, amounting to $1748.90, was taid aside upon the statement that all the assessments for this work had not yet been paid.

A bill of the Fortland Micradiannizing and Paying company of $1011.44, for the improvement of Jefferson street was read, and there seemed to be an inclination to pass it, but it did not go through.

of benericon street was read, and there seemen to be an inclination to pass it, but it did not go through Fliedner asked if the assessments had been collected, and, being answered in the negative, said "Jet contractors wait until the assess ments are paid, and it will save lots of trouble" terdes said they had already laid over the bill of John (ilbson, and he objected to any favoritism. "Why not let them all lay over?" No motion being made to my the bill, the clerk shoved it back into. pigeon-hole with others of the same character.

When Nelson, Ball & to 's bill of $2 75 for medicines furnished to the city jail was read, councilman Fliedner sprang to his feet with "How is this." I though twe had a contract with St. Vincent's hospial to take care of all our sick. It's not so far out there but that a man could be taken out, without much trouble if he got suck in the city fail. I don't like this idea of letting contracts it folks to do things at them paying somebody else on the outside for doing the work."

Another (arry.—"If the councilman will permit me, I would state that this bill is for a prescription furnished to Mrs. Cuneo."

"Ah" said the councilman from the Thirt ward, beaving a great sigh as he sank into his seat amud the laughter of all, "I have nothing to say if it was for Mrs. Cuneo."

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the fund for the extension of South Front street to the amount of $110 SD, first came up under the order of business. This sum is to pay damages to property sustained by 6 G Gammon, as awarded by the viewers upon the extension of said street. The ordinance passed under suppension of the rules.
